Pragmatic Works Joins Forces with Agile BI to Bring (DLO) Data Lifecycle Optimization to Australia

Jacksonville, FL – U.S.-based Pragmatic Works has teamed up with Agile BI to provide full-service Business Intelligence engagement solutions to customers through data consulting, software and training offerings throughout Australia and New Zealand.

Pragmatic Works, a software, consulting and training company, will offer their (DLO) Data Lifecycle Optimization products that simplify the development and management of the Microsoft Data Platform through Agile BI's consulting practice. In addition, Pragmatic Works will team with Agile BI to deliver top-tier data training on topics ranging from data management and big data to cloud and business intelligence projects.

"With the combined business intelligence expertise of both companies and our industry leading software and training, we will be able to provide stronger support to customers in Australia and New Zealand," says Tim Moolic, COO of Pragmatic Works. "Together we can help organizations optimize the value of their Microsoft Data Platform investment to its fullest extent."

"Agile BI is thrilled to partner with Pragmatic Works in Australia and New Zealand. We are excited to be able to offer their high quality training across all aspects of Microsoft Business Intelligence to users in the region." said Iman Eftekhari, Director at Agile BI. "When we deliver services to our customers, our focus is to deliver high quality and agile data analytics solutions. Leveraging Pragmatic Works' applications and tools will help us improve our customers' outcomes."
